VOL. XI. CHARLES B. HALPIN, Editor and Manager. LACOMBE, ALBERTA, WEDNE SDAY, MAY 24, 1916. ONE DOLLAR PER YEAR

A Ford car bought part by part costs only $40.00 more than the list price of the complete car as against $940 more for the parts of the average car priced around $1000 and less $940—Cost, over and above the list price of the car itself, for enough spare parts to build the average touring car priced around $1000 and less.

$40—Cost, over and above the list price of the car itself, for enough spare parts to build a Ford touring car complete.

$900—Difference in part by part cost of cars. And remember, both by laboratory tests and actual service test, the parts of a Ford car have proved themselves superior, part by part, to those of any other car.

Don't these figures drive home what is meant by the low upkeep cost of the Ford?

Ford Runabout $480 - Ford Touring $530 - Ford Coupelet $730 - Ford Sedan $890 - Ford Town Car $780, L. A. B. Ford, Ontario. All cars completely equipped, including electric headlights. Equipment does not include speedometer.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY FROM MERCHANTS IN YOUR TOWN

Many citizens are in the habit of buying from Eaton's and other catalogue houses, laboring under the impression that they get their goods cheaper. They may—but they usually get cheaper goods. We are publishing an analysis by the government of paint said to have been purchased from Eaton. We are also publishing a portion of Eaton's paint advertisement. Note that Eaton says his paint is mixed with PURE LINSEED OIL. Pure linseed oil is a very costly article, and is guaranteed to be used in the paints handled by our local hardware men. Of course if butter-milk and soap were substituted for linseed oil our local dealers could meet Eaton in price. We will not comment on this. The Eaton advertisement and the government analysis speak for themselves.

Extract from Eaton's advertisement: "This paint was sold at this figure last year, and it was certainly a great bargain, but it is doubly so this year, because the ingredients have advanced considerably. The only reason for the price being the same is that after the immense success attended last year's efforts orders were immediately placed for a repetition of the event this year, and we thereby saved the advances on the materials. Don't judge the paint by the price. It contains all that a first-class paint should contain, and is carefully ground and blended, containing only pure lead, pure zinc, pure dry colors, and PURE LINSEED OIL."

Read what the government analyst says about Eaton's paint:

March 29, 1916.
W. H. Hodges, Esq., Barrister,
Etc., 2 Toronto Street, Toronto, Ont.

Sir—I acknowledge receipt of your communication of the 27th instant, with enclosed money order for $5.00, covering payment of the fee for analysis of a sample of "Mixed Paint" said to have been purchased from the T. Eaton Company, Ltd., by Mr. Morris Phillips.

In reply, I beg to advise that, according to the report of the chief analyst, the sample submitted is found to contain:—
Pigment, 57.44 per cent.; vehicle, 42.56 per cent.

The pigment above referred to has the following composition:—
Basic carbonate of lead, 0.80 per cent.
Zinc oxide, 8.21 per cent.
Zinc sulphide, 11.71 per cent.
Lead sulphate, 0.74 per cent.
Barium sulphate, 17.17 per cent.

Silica and silicates (by difference), 18.81 per cent.
The article is of exceedingly low value as a paint. The pigment essentially consists of barium sulphate and silicate, which have very little covering power. The amount of lead contained in it is very small indeed.

The statement in the advertisement that "it contains all that a first-class paint should contain" is certainly incorrect and misleading. I remain, sir, Your obedient servant,
GEO. W. TAYLOR,
Asst. Deputy Minister and Sec.

Ottawa, April 11, 1916.
W. H. Hodges, Esq., Barrister,
Etc., 2 Toronto Street, Toronto, Ont.

Sir—I acknowledge receipt of your communication of the 31st ultimo, requesting further information in connection with the vehicle present in a sample of mixed paint recently analyzed, and said to have been purchased from the T. Eaton Company, Limited.

In reply I beg to advise that the vehicle shows the following:—
Specific gravity at 15.5 deg. C. 0.906.
Refractive index at 25 deg. C. 1.4700.

Saponification number, 166.4.
Unsaturation number, 166.4.
Evaporation test loss at 150 deg. C. 17.36 per cent.

These results prove that the article in question is not linseed oil. I remain, sir, your obedient servant,
G. W. TAYLOR,
Asst. Deputy Minister and Sec.

If a firm can defraud you in the matter of paint, would not the same firm defraud you in other cases? Morrison & Johnston, or A. M. Campbell would not dare to palm off an article like the above on a customer—it would mean ruin to them. And still many attempt to make them sell a real guaranteed article at the price charged by Mail Order Houses for an article practically valueless.

The moral is "Trade With Your Home Merchants." If they do not treat you right you can have the question at issue settled in a few minutes. If a mail order house gets your money, and the article is not right, you must grin and bear it.
Trade at home.

A GRAND ARMY OF CANADA

Approximately 400,000 men will return to Canada from the war. If these form a Grand Army of Canada they will be one of the most potent of our national forces. They will gain a mighty influence in our municipal, provincial, and federal politics, and in our social, economic, industrial and commercial affairs. Yet, who will say that this is not their right? Will they not be more deserving of the good things of life than those who have stayed at home in case while Canada's soldiers, wounds, and untold suffering and hardships in their country's cause? Only inordinately selfish and unpatriotic persons will begrudge the returned veterans a suitable recognition of their heroism and self-sacrifice, and such persons are very much in the minority, and will be even more so when the soldiers come back.

As Lord Northcliffe stated recently, the returned soldiers will be supermen. They have walked hand in hand with death and have been unafraid. They have been willing to lay down their lives, not for the lust of fighting, although they are lusty fighters, but for a great principle which represents the liberty and safety of their families, their friends, their nation, and the world. They have acquired authority and have learned to respect. They will be big, sound men who have passed through a fiery furnace and been tempered and strengthened by the process.

Would Canada be in dangerous hands were it to be controlled by these supermen? The Globe thinks not, and we hope that the soldiers will form an association that will stretch from Atlantic to Pacific and from the United States border to Herschell Island.

EXTERMINATE THIS ENEMY

This is the time of the year to exterminate the house fly. It has been the custom of householders to regard the fly as a necessary evil, but this is too innocuous a view. The fly is a dangerous enemy. It spreads the worst diseases the world knows, and it is especially fatal to babies. Keep the flies away and the infants will have a better chance to live through the summer, and even adults will be spared the risk of contracting certain ills.

The most satisfactory method of extermination of flies is to prevent their breeding, and this is the season when this preventive measure can be taken with the best results. Manure piles should be treated with borax, and should be covered up and should be removed every six days in summer. Kitchen refuse should be kept in tightly covered garbage tins, and if it cannot be disposed of at once, it should be sprinkled with borax. Milk and other foods should be kept in refrigerators or covered with muslin or close netting, and windows and doors should be screened. Flies should be barred from sick rooms.

FITTING THE BOOT

Until a week or two ago it was the habit of the Liberal press of Canada to blame all the sins against decent Canadian citizenship that have been committed by Bourassa, Lavergne & Co., since the outbreak of the war, on the Conservative party.

Pointing an accusing finger at the government, these organs declared that it was the encouragement they got from Sir Robert Borden and other leaders in the election of 1911 that made them so active in encouraging disloyalty among their compatriots. The Borden government was a sneeringly referred to as the Conservative-Nationalist administration at Ottawa and the ultra-French characteristics which have become more definite than ever among the members of this group during the last year or two have all been blamed on the hapless head of the prime minister and his closest advisers.

But who are nationalists now? Who went into the division lobby with them at Ottawa last week at the order of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and voted in favor of tendering advice to a Canadian province on a question over which it has absolute control? The answer is that it was almost the entire parliamentary representation of the Liberal party in Canada.

The Liberal members from the west are to be congratulated on their strong stand in favor of provincial rights, even when no actual interference was being attempted, but their action does not clear the skirts of the official Liberal party in Canada. At the behest of Quebec that party has surrendered to Nationalism and to all that the name implies so far as the internal affairs of Canada are concerned.

It is not likely, therefore, that we will hear any more of this talk about the Borden government being dominated by the Nationalists of Quebec. The shoe is on the other foot now, to use a homely expression, and it seems to fit so well that it is more than likely to stay there for some time.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION THAT HITS INSURERS

Medicine Hat, May 18.—A decision handed down by Mr. Justice Hyndman in the Supreme Court here will have far-reaching effect and is of decided interest to every owner of buildings in the province. It is to the effect that if a building insured as an inhabited building becomes unoccupied and remains so ten days, and providing there is a clause re unoccupancy in the policy, as there is in all, the policy is rendered void and ceases unless the company is notified that the building is unoccupied and agree that the policy shall stand. In case of fire and the building is destroyed and the company has not been given this notice the owner cannot collect his insurance.

Chas. Moran, of Redcliff, had a house destroyed by fire. He was living in it when it was damaged by fire. He collected part of the insurance. The house was in such a condition that he could not live in it. He failed to notify the North Empire Fire Insurance Co. that the house was unoccupied. Later it was completely destroyed and he brought suit to collect the insurance.

CANADIAN BILL INTRODUCED IN BRITISH HOUSE

Ottawa, May 18.—At the opening of the House, Sir Robert Borden stated that information had been received from England that a bill had been introduced in the House of Commons by Mr. Bonar Law, secretary for the colonies, on May 3, providing for the extension of the life of the Canadian parliament for one year.

The prime minister also presented a statement from the deputy minister of militia showing that 18,506 soldiers now in training in Canada had gone off on leave to help in seeding operations on the farms.

TO OUR READERS

While the Editor of The Western Globe is always pleased to have communications from the readers of the paper on questions of interest to the community, there are questions which at the present time we do not feel disposed to have threshed out in our columns. Mr. Puffer's letter, which appeared in last week's edition, appears to have caused considerable talk throughout parts of the district, and we have received no less than five communications on the matter. We are publishing one in this issue, which we think takes up the whole matter as fully as desirable, and think that our correspondents will agree with us that at the present time this letter should be sufficient.

E. J. Tett has returned from a visit to his Ontario home.

Screen doors and windows at Morrison & Johnston, Limited.

Owing to a mix-up somewhere between Rimbey and Lacombe, the news from that thriving community did not reach us in time for last week's paper.

A ladies gold watch was lost on Sunday evening between the Methodist Church and Burris Avenue. Finder will please leave at the Globe Office. The watch is valued as a present.

The Sunnybrook Stock Farm (John H. Taylor, President) sold 40 head of the choicest fat stock in Alberta to Mr. McLean, the big live stock buyer of Stettler. The price received was 8c. per lb. at Lacombe. The fattening of these animals was in the capable hands of Stewart Taylor, who thoroughly understands his business.

Reall Orderlies keep the bowels regular and healthy. Their action is gentle, mild and soothing. Sold only by Reall Drug Stores, 15c. and 25c. boxes. The McDermid Drug Co., Lacombe.

Refrigerators, lined with galvanized and white enamel in all sizes, at Morrison & Johnston, Limited.

Sergts. R. H. Inglis and L. Standish, of the 187th Battalion, are in Lacombe securing recruits for that regiment. They have their office in the McLean Block, Barnett Ave., and will give any prospective recruits full information.

Messrs. Putland & Thorp will operate a store at Gull Lake this season. They have secured the store opposite the post office, and will put in a full line of groceries, fruits and confectionery. The firm purpose putting on a delivery twice a day for the convenience of the cottagers. Carl Weiss will have charge.

Glen Goings, of Rimbey, another likely candidate for the Western Globe car, was nominated last night by Rimbey friends, and they are going to boost for him.

LIEUT. SHIELDS HONORED

On the eve of his departure for Europe with his regiment, Lieut. W. A. Shields was tendered a complimentary smoker on Thursday evening last. The pleasant affair was held in the assembly room of the Merchants Bank, and businessmen of the town to the number of about twenty were present. The gathering was also honored by the presence of five brother officers of Lieut. Shields, who came up from Red Deer for the occasion. A. M. Macdonald was voted to the chair, and in a few pleasing words made known the object of the gathering, and called upon Mr. Puffer, who had been selected to make the presentation, for a few remarks. As usual, Mr. Puffer was equal to the occasion, and voiced the sentiments of all present with respect to Mr. Shields, and at the conclusion of his remarks presented him with a sword and another small remembrance in the shape of a silver cigarette case. Mr. Shields made a fitting reply, and assured all that he would do his best to bring honor to his regiment, his country, and Lacombe.

Short addresses were given by everyone present, and a very pleasant evening was brought to a close by toasts to the King, the Army, and our fellow-townsmen, Lieut. Shields.

Among the visitors present were Capt. Trueman, Lieut. Millican, Lieut. Scott, Lieut. Andrew, and Lieut. Lowndes (Army Service Corps). The officers were all members of the 89th Battalion, which leaves for the front in a few days.

Mr. Shields was for some years manager of the local branch of the Merchants Bank, and was one of our most highly respected businessmen. It is the wish of his many friends in Lacombe that he will go through the war with honor and return safely to Lacombe when peace returns.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT RIMBEY

The three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Rimbey, of Rimbey, was burned to death in a fire which destroyed the church at that place last week. How the fire started is a mystery, and it was not until the building was all in flames that the fire was noticed by the citizens. It was not suspected that the child had been in the building until after the fire had burned out and his charred body was found among the ruins. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of their many friends in Rimbey and Lacombe.

LOCALS ON R.R. NO. 1

W. S. Langmaid was successful last week in locating a coyote den and digging out the litter of pups, who were dispatched to the happy hunting grounds to chase rabbit ghosts.

Mr. William Uhlig is visiting with his nephew, Grover Robson, for a few weeks. William says the life in Southern Alberta is very strenuous.

We met O. W. Johnson the other day with the biggest red-headed man we ever saw. He introduced him to us as George A. Buckeye, and we were glad to make his acquaintance. He has bought quite a chunk of Alberta, and is looking for more.

RED CROSS NOTES

The President and other officers of the Red Cross Society wish to correct the impression given by a communication appearing in a recent issue of the Western Globe to the effect that Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rutledge have not contributed their share towards the Red Cross funds. Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge have, since the war started, contributed monthly to the fund, and Mrs. Rutledge has been an active worker in other ways in the Society. She has given much help, both in sewing and assisting at the meetings of the Red Cross Society.

The contents of the bale shipped to Calgary on May 13th was as follows: 25 pyjamas, 6 nurses aprons, 11 flannelette surgical shirts, 22 pair socks, 15 washrags, 4 hot water bottle covers, 3 T-bandages, 2 flannel shirts, 3 cotton surgical shirts,

After Suffering Almost Two Years "Fruit-a-tives" Brought Relief.

MR. WHITMAN
882 St. Valier St., Montreal.

"In 1912, I was taken suddenly ill with Acute Stomach Trouble and dropped in the street. I was treated by several physicians for nearly two years. I was in constant misery from my stomach and my weight dropped down from 225 pounds to 160 pounds. Several of my friends advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and I did so. That was eight months ago. I began to improve almost with the first dose. No other medicine I ever used acted so pleasantly and quickly as 'Fruit-a-tives', and by using it I recovered from the distressing Stomach Trouble, and all pain and Constipation and misery were cured. I am completely recovered by the use of 'Fruit-a-tives' and now I weigh 208 pounds. I cannot praise 'Fruit-a-tives' enough".

The Red Cross Society acknowledges, with thanks, the sum of 50c. donation from Mrs. O. Palmer.

Rimbey News

The meeting of the Red Cross members, held at the home of Mr. W. Brooks, was very well attended, and quite a little work was done. The President has been away visiting for a considerable time, and hopes that now she has returned every one will attend regularly. This week the meeting will be at the home of Mr. W. Cooke. Tea will be served at 5c. each.

50 P. C. CHARGED TO INSURE AGAINST PEACE BY JAN. 1st

London, May 23.—The underwriters yesterday charged 50 per cent. to insure against a declaration of peace between Great Britain and Germany before January 1. The rate indicates that in the underwriters' opinion the prospects for an early peace are better than two months ago, when the rate for the same risk was only 30 per cent.

THE HORSE RAISING BUSINESS WILL PROVE VERY PROFITABLE

Is the farmer justified in believing that the firm tone of the horse market and the present high prices for live stock rest upon a secure foundation? May he look forward with any confidence to the next season's or next year's market? Should he prepare, as against an advertised shortage and high prices for all classes of farm animals, by breeding a larger number of mares or of cows, sheep, hogs, and poultry? We are confident that the farmer has never been in a more secure position than the present, as regards the extension of his breeding operations, but, to enable him to form more easily his own conclusions, the following facts are submitted:

Since the outbreak of the war the British Remount Commission has purchased in Canada 15,000 horses. Eighty thousand have been bought by French contractors and 25,000 by the Canadian Department of Militia. The Department of Militia is now engaged in buying an additional thousand head. The British Remount Commission has purchased over 700 since March, and is buying daily in Montreal. French contractors are anxious to obtain supplies and are arranging to buy all that are available, both in the East and in the West. It is understood that, as a result of the purchases already made, army buyers are finding it increasingly difficult, both in the United States and in Canada, to readily secure the number of horses which they require, particularly of the type suitable for heavy cavalry or heavy artillery.

In addition to the purchases for army account, commercial activities from two distinct quarters has exerted a very evident influence upon the Canadian horse market during the past three or four months. Since the beginning of the year 6,000 horses reached Winnipeg Stock Yards from Eastern Canada, and 5,917 were shipped from the same yards westward, mostly to Saskatchewan. During the months of January, February, and March, 1,603 horses were exported to the United States. A few hundred more went forward to the same market in April. The horses exported were good farm chunks weighing from 1,300 to 1,500 lbs. As high as $500 a pair was paid, for animals possessing extra quality and conformation. This new movement in the horse market is having its effect upon prices all over Canada.

Buyers report that the better classes of drafters and farm chunks are getting scarce and hard to buy. The same holds true of good big roadsters and saddlers. The noticeable scarcity of good horses of these descriptions illustrates the fact that demand has already overtaken supply, and makes it very evident that all the really good sound mares in the country should be bred this year. It cannot be too strongly emphasized, however, that they should be mated only with strictly high-class sires. The number of horses rejected by army buyers clearly indicates that there is no place for the unsound horse or for the misfit. Such animals have been, are now, and always will be, a drag on the market. Breed to the best if you would have the best. Unsound or malformed mares are just as bad as unsound stallions. It is easier to raise a good animal than a poor one. Manage the work this spring in order that the best mare on the farm may be regularly returned to the horse. Next year, a good crop of sound, healthy colts will be as good as a bank account. Canada is likely to enter shortly the commercial export market, and that market will require all you can produce.

RUSSIA'S NEW OUTLET

The Murman railway, according to French advice, is approaching completion. In less than a year Russia has laid and set in operation four-fifths of the line that is to put her out of all dangers of future isolation by the Teutonic powers. In a few more months the last 150 miles of the overland route from Petrograd to the Arctic ocean will, in their turn, be completed. Russia will thenceforth be accessible to the ocean at all times, for Kola, the Murman port and terminus, is sufficiently free of ice to be kept open to entry throughout the winter seasons.

A great part of the task of building 750 miles of line was carried out during the frozen months in defiance of the bitterest climate in Europe. Endless and seemingly bottomless bogs were crossed, though piles and pile-drivers disappeared in them more than once. Hundreds of miles of bald rock outcrop, clear of every vestige of soil, were leveled and smoothed out for the right of way by the patient use of dynamite. Thirty thousand men, more or less, worked through most of a year to carry out the project.

The line, as revealed in recently-published pictures, is a broad gauge single track route, fairly free from heavy grades and sharp curves. Forests along portions of the line will supply plenty of wood, the customary Russian railways fuel, for years to come. The capacity of the route for freight should be equal to that of a high-class single track line in the United States, or perhaps somewhat greater, owing to the absence of local traffic along the route, a simplification for train schedules.

The new railroad and the new port, open the year round, and distant only 750 miles from Petrograd, will presently transmit Russia's isolation. Shipments to Russia via Kola will doubtless then begin on a scale similar to the shipments into England and France. Russian grain can at the same time go out to these countries and help to regulate the balance of trade.

The completed road will constitute the greatest piece of state construction carried out by any belligerent during the war, not excluding the tunnel of the Marseilles-Rhone ship canal opened by France the other day. So great and immediately useful a task thus brought near a close affords one of the numerous signs that Russia is but beginning to fight. Put the improvement brought about by the railroad together with such tokens of strength as the coming of Russian troops to France and the Russian advance in Asiatic Turkey, and you begin to realize the formidable impetus which the giant nation is slowly gathering against the Teutons.

PROTESTS AGAINST INHUMAN TREATMENT

Liverpool, May 17.—Chief Officer Collins, of the British four-masted ship, Calgate, which was sunk by a German submarine in the Atlantic, who landed at Liverpool yesterday, protested vigorously against the submarine commander's "inhuman and barbarous conduct" in setting the seamen adrift in open boats, after sinking the ship during a terrific gale and a high sea.

"I reckon nobody calling themselves white men or claiming to have in them a shred of humanity, would cast men adrift in small boats during such weather," said Collins. "When I was leaving the ship I did not think the boats could live through such a sea."

The Calgate's crew belonged to many nationalities. The chief officer's boat was adrift for 45 hours before its occupants were rescued by a patrol boat.

WIVES OF SOLDIERS FROM CANADA NOT WANTED IN GREAT BRITAIN

London, May 18th.—Mainly on the ground that their presence tends to hamper efficiency in the Canadian forces in England and France, the agents-general in London of the provinces of Canada, assembled today in conference, passed a resolution calling upon the provincial governments to take steps to discourage officers' and soldiers' wives from coming to this country until the end of the war.

"There are over three thousand wives of officers' and men of the Canadian forces now in the United Kingdom," said one agent-general, addressing his fellows, "and I understand this number is to be increased during the next two or three months at a rate of upwards of a thousand a week. Immediately they arrive the ladies communicate with their husbands, who perhaps have only just returned from the trenches, urging them to obtain a further few days' leave. In the vast majority of cases this is, of course, impossible, owing to the military exigencies. But in spite of that they persist, demanding the intervention of the agent-general and the high commissioner, and when they find they are helpless in the matter these good ladies take things into their own hands, and write the military authorities. In not a few cases they have communicated with the commanding officer direct, without the knowledge of the husband, to whom such behavior causes some anxiety."

"It is far better for the wives to remain in Canada with friends than to come here on an off chance of seeing their husbands, and then spending several months amongst strangers."

Bad Lands News

"Cum Grano Salis"

We are glad to be able to report that the loss to the Bentley Poker Club in the recent fire was not as complete as feared. The firemen were able to save a table with three legs, one and a half yards green baize, 2 complete packs playing cards, nearly one bushel mixed and damaged cards; 25 white, 13 red, and 8 blue chips. Unfortunately, the records of the club, with the J. O.U.'s of those members who were indebted were lost. So the decks are now clear and all hands start at scratch. At a meeting of the executive, to devise ways and means of carrying on the good work of the Club, it was decided to rent an upper room in one of the principal business blocks so that they might all be gathered together. To replace the lost chips immediately it was proposed to buy out Putland & Thorp's stock of white, red and blue bone buttons. It was, however, shown that buttons of a similar pattern could be procured in Lacombe, and as this might be a serious handicap on the banker the idea was abandoned. An order was then dispatched to the Hudson's Bay Co. store, Calgary, for the necessary outfit. As it is the desire of the Club members to be on terms of amity with all men, it was decided that the Sabbath services should be so arranged as to conform with the doctrines of both the Protestant and Seventh-Day denominations. In future, services will be held on the seventh, as well as the first, day of the week. The Club took possession of the spacious apartments secured in one of Bentley's highest sky-scrapers on the 6th inst., when special dedicatory services were held, extending from 8 p.m. on the 6th until 4 a.m. on the 7th. This service was opened and closed with a round of jack-pots. A memorial service in honor of the lost records was held in the afternoon of the 7th. At this service only ace pots were allowed. For the erection of a new Club-house it is proposed to purchase a fine site overlooking the park and the auto speedway. The building plans include a fine lecture hall and reference library. The management propose enlisting the services of experts to explain and enlighten the youth of the city in the mysteries of poker. It is expected one of the first lectures will be given by Prof. Arthur Putland on the subject of "whizzers."

Some stars are so far away that the light from them hasn't reached us yet. But it will arrive eventually. Bill Rorick—Reminds me of Harv, coming from the post-office.

"That was a fine speech Puffer gave on the agricultural question, wasn't it?" Bill Kennedy—"Oh, aye, it wasna bad, but a couple o' weeks' warm weather wud dae mair guid."

We note a nocturnal, raptorial bird, genus stirges, popularly endowed with superlative wisdom, who twitters in the columns of the Globe, has slated us on the lack of juvenility in our jokes. To him we will relate a joke which was told to an ancestor of ours some two thousand years ago by the Grand Duke of York (who is famous in history as having marched his ten thousand men up, then down, then back again), and which has been carefully preserved by the family in cotton, wool, and lavender salts ever since. The joke goeth thus:—

A man and his son decided to take their ass to a certain town and left home, the father riding and the son walking. Soon they passed two men who remarked that it was a shame to make the boy walk, so the father alighted and placed his son on the ass. Before they had proceeded far they passed two other persons, who remarked what a fool the old man was not to ride. He thereupon mounted the ass behind his son. The next people they met cried out that it was cruelty for two such hulking fellows to ride so small an ass and they would report it to the police. But probably "The Owl" has heard this joke, so we will not finish it. Suffice it, the Bad Lands News does not suit everyone, but yet the "Black Cat" will write.

A handsomely-dressed dandy entered a crowded street car on Barnett Avenue. A rough-looking old fellow, wearing a dilapidated hat and a suit of blue jeans, rose to his feet. "Miss, take my seat; I don't look as well as these gentlemen," he said, nodding to several men, "but I've got more politeness."

Without a word of thanks the young woman sat down. "Miss," said the old fellow with a smile, "I believe I left my tobacco pouch on the seat; will you please get it up?" No sooner was the seat unoccupied than the old fellow deliberately sat down.

"Believe I'll keep settin' here," Miss, he explained. "I've got a little more politeness than these 'ere gentlemen, but I have found out that I ain't got nigh as much common sense."

Perhaps "The Owl" has heard of the Englishman in South Africa, who read over a Lockhart door, "Inside Baggage," and chuckled with glee. "You Americans are so droll; now, we should say, 'Refreshment Room.'"

"How did you contrive to convince your wife you couldn't afford to own an automobile?" Chris Jensen—"Pure luck on my part; she wanted to have an old dress cleaned, and bought a gallon of gasoline."

Adam gave one rib and got a wife. Robert Kirtan, of Pittsburg, back from the front, lost seven ribs and then married his Red Cross nurse. This shows the increased cost of living.

Although a good portion of Bentley has been burned, it is still sometimes hard to find the man you want. The other day we wished to find Geo. Garries, but he was not at home, nor was Jimmie's; neither in the post-office or at P. & T's. John Whitesell remarked that possibly he would be hard to find, as there wasn't an awful lot of him to start with. He had been to Fred Chapman for a close shave, and he believed that Fred had about half of him on his shaving paper.

We have a black cow we call Blanche, because she isn't white, and we suppose, for some such reason, C.B. labels the additional rubbish we take in "Lockhart thing good it will pay you to call and see this."

ORDER YOUR COAL EARLY

The following is an extract taken from a letter received by the Atlas Lumber Co., Lacombe, re the coal situation:

"We wish to advise all agents that we greatly fear an exceedingly acute coal shortage next winter, owing to the inability of mines to work labor. As you are undoubtedly aware, it has been almost impossible for the farmer to get labor to do his Spring work properly, and the labor situation in the mines is much worse, and will continue so during the war."

"Now, we want every one of our agents to endeavor to get his farmer customers to take their coal out this Spring when they haul in their wheat. We want you to try and persuade them to take at least part of their next winter's requirements, as this will eliminate a possibility of suffering. It is a physical impossibility for the coal dealers to stock enough coal during the summer to take care of the demand during the winter. You know how difficult it was to get coal this past winter—just multiply our difficulties by two or three, and you will probably have our difficulties next winter, if there is any demand at all."

"Galt coal, Briggettes, or Bankhead hard coal, will keep in excellent shape for at least a year, and indefinitely, if it is stored in good light bins. Do not store any of the cheaper coals, as there would be too much loss from shrinkage and slack. Drill this into your customers every time you have an opportunity. They would better pay their cash now and get the coal when they can get it. The farmer who will pursue this method is going to be the lucky one next winter."

R.N.W.M.P. CORPORAL IS ACCUSED OF TREASON

Regina, May 20.—Corp. Toft, R.N.W.M.P., is now a prisoner in the guard-room at the barracks on a charge of treason, arising out of certain activities he has been engaged in, in which he is alleged to have been trying to dissuade prospective recruits from joining the colors.

It is alleged he has personally approached men who intended to join for active service and made strong appeals to them not to do so. During the last year he has been under surveillance by the provincial and dominion officers who have learned of his pro-German sympathies.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

THE OWL SAYS

When night has come, and dogs do howl,
Sing "Ho, for the reign of the horned owl."

I was asked by a gentleman on the street a few days ago if Lacombe had a very big police force, to which I replied: "You bet. Just wait until you see him; he's the biggest man I ever saw in my life, and the funny part of it is that he's an exception to the rule—that all policemen have big feet."

How often we are asked if we are going to the show, and are undecided whether we will go or not. If feeling this way remember that he who hesitates is lost. The Rex shows only the cleanest and best pictures obtainable.

Barney says that he's just got to see that "Night Stage" tomorrow (Thursday) night.

Have you ever noticed that more attention is paid to a good horse and buggy than to an automobile?—it's a fact.

Last week I said that Spring would soon be here; all it wanted was time. Well, it has arrived all right, and so will summer.

Somewhere in France a raw Irish recruit passed the Colonel of his regiment without raising his hand in salute. The officer wondered if the soldier knew who he was, and said: "Do you know who I am? I'm the Colonel." To which the Irishman replied: "My goodness, but you're a lucky beggar; I'm only a private."

It is reported that the famous Bill Baillie Lee, of the Bad Lands, is coming into town tomorrow (Thursday) in order to see that great Reliance picture, "On the Night Stage." This item alone should pack the house at both shows.

In a recent attack, made somewhere in France, the following command was given to be passed down the trench: "Enemy advancing on right flank, send reinforcements." Before it reached the other end it was as follows: "Enemy advancing with ham shanks, send three or four pence."

Well, boys, cheer up; Spring is here at last, and we will soon be wending our way out to Barnett's Lake and Jackfish Bay. Be sure and take your bathing suits along.

If the weather keeps fine like this for a few weeks there is every indication that the farmers will have a grand harvest.

WHAT THE COMING OF PROHIBITION WILL MEAN

The prohibition or liquor act is said, intends to call on the professional associations affected July 1, 1916. This will be here very shortly, barely six weeks, and the hotels and wholesale liquor places will go out of business as vendors of intoxicating liquors.

Though the people of the province studied the act with more or less assiduity last June it is possible that some of them may now have forgotten many of the important parts of the act. In the first place, liquor for domestic consumption must be brought in from outside the province. Although there is nothing in the act limiting the quantity which any one person can order from outside points, yet there is the household restrictions, which says no household can have more than one quart of spirits and two gallons (one case) of beer or other malt liquor.

This cannot be bought from any of the professional men who are permitted to sell liquor for medicinal, mechanical, sacramental, or scientific purposes. The druggist may have a quantity not exceeding five gallons at one time, the dentist not in excess of a pint, the doctor not exceeding two quarts, the veterinary surgeon not exceeding one gallon. These can only be disbursed on medical certificates. All these professional men must make monthly reports of the quantities they have and have disposed of. They must also report their detailed permits. If these reports are not right, or are not made the neglectful doctor, dentist, vet, or druggist is liable to a fine of $50.00 for a first offence, $200.00 for a second, and $500 for a third.

The liquor act gives the lieutenant-governor in council the power to appoint government vendors to sell liquor to such professional men as are permitted to buy or order sold. It has been stated that the government intends to take advantage of the word "may" in this permission to appoint vendors and not appoint any until it appears more necessary. The feeling now is that it is very possible that the druggists, who will be the heaviest purchasers, and who will be in a position to supply the demands of the other professions affected, will buy liquor from outside points. They might be able to get it cheaper than the government could sell, and naturally they would not buy from the government vendors in that case. Any way it is thought that the government will not worry over vendors for some time, but will devote its efforts to enforcing the act. The province will be divided into four parts, each under a separate head and all sub-heads under the main officer in the department, of the attorney-general at Edmonton. There will be a very large increase in the staff of inspectors and detectives.

The man who consumes liquor, beer, or spirits, in his home, will be put to the necessity of sending out of Alberta for it, and probably there will be some inconveniences experienced by doctors who prescribe liquor for patients until the matters assume a settled basis. A druggist who fills medical certificates for liquors and who has only five gallons or less in stock, will not be able to carry much beer or ale. He will need most of his permit for gin, whisky, brandy and wine. The provincial government, it is said, intends to call on the professional associations affected July 1, 1916. This will be here very shortly, barely six weeks, and the hotels and wholesale liquor places will go out of business as vendors of intoxicating liquors.

Members of these professions who are caught breaking the prohibition act will not only be fined or imprisoned, if the government plan is perfected. They will also be barred from membership in their professional associations. This automatically disqualifies them from doing business in Alberta.

The grounds under which they can be disqualified in this manner are multitudinous. They can fail to send monthly reports, they can let liquor be consumed in their drug stores, they can have too much liquor in stock, they can accept forged certificates, and they are guilty under the act if the violations occur through clerks or other employees. The professional men must, therefore, be very careful, and the government expects to receive much assistance from the associations in enforcing the act.

Just what the hotels will do is conjectural. Some intend to alter their bars and make them into tea rooms and ice cream parlors; some intend to cut out the bar-room and rent it as a business site. Many hotelmen are considering reducing the size of their rotundas and providing extra rental space in order to endeavor to counteract the loss of the bar income.

It is said that several intend to let their bar space to professional men. Some are intending putting a stock of drugs in the old barroom and running it as a venture under a qualified druggist. When July comes there will be many interesting developments, not only among the government officials.

It is stated that the breweries will continue to do business, but will increase their output of temperance beer while they reduce the irregular four per cent. stuff which is now sold in bars. The breweries will brew four per cent. for trade outside the province, and have the power to brew a beer for local consumption if the proof spirits do not exceed 24 per cent. Even this latter permission is doubtful at present, until the court of appeals settles a recent case heard at Lethbridge.

At present there is a statute setting forth the percentage of alcohol or proof spirits in so-called temperance beer at two per cent. A few days ago the liquor license department brought a charge of selling liquor against two Lethbridge men, and the charge was dismissed by Inspector Pennyfather, who heard the case. The accused were charged with selling intoxicating liquor without a license. Local men went on the stand in defence and swore that no one could get drunk on the liquid, though it was possible to become ill if one drank too much. The witnesses for the prosecution swore that they felt alcoholic effects after drinking the beverage. Evidence was adduced showing that the Edmonton test of the liquor showed 1.65 and 2.00 per cent. proof spirits and less than one per cent. of alcohol in volume.

The government gave notice of appeal when the charge was dismissed by the mounted police inspector.

More Men Than Women Have Appendicitis

Surgeons state men are slightly more subject to appendicitis than women. Lacombe people should know that a few doses of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ika, often relieves or prevents appendicitis. This mixture removes such surprising foul matter that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY DASE of constipation, sour stomach or gas. The INSTANT, easy action of Adler-ika is surprising. A. WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. Try it.

MR. PUFFER'S MEAT CONTRACTS

There has been considerable talk in the District with reference to W. F. Puffer's connection with the supply of meat on various railroads now under construction in Alberta, and The Globe thought that the best source of information was Mr. Puffer himself, and interviewed him on the matter. Mr. Puffer's explanation is as follows:

Eleven or twelve years ago T. Burns had the contract for the supply of meat to the gangs on the branch line from Lacombe, and he asked Mr. Puffer to supply same, which he did as far as east as Castor. When the G. T. P. was building the Tofield-Calgary branch, Geo. H. Webster, who was building the grade, had Mr. Puffer supply his gangs with meat for thirty miles north and south of Alix, at which point Mr. Puffer had a butcher shop. When the C. N. R. Stettler-Brazzau line was started, P. Burns & Co. had the meat contract, and as the line passed close to Alix Mr. Burns had Mr. Puffer supply the grading gangs that year. The following year the Stettler Meat Co. (Bob Shaw, M.P.P., President) had the contract on the C. N. R. system, but found that it was difficult to handle, and the next year turned the contract over to Mr. Puffer from Rocky Mountain House west. As Mr. Puffer points out, this transaction could not be "going halves" with Mr. Shaw at all, as it was only entered into to oblige the Stettler Meat Co. and was but a small part of Mr. Shaw's contract. North of Edmonton Mr. Puffer supplied Timothy & Riley, contractors on the Canada Central; Geo. H. Webster, on the Grand Prairie Branch, and D. McArthur, of the Waterways, all independent contractors. Mr. Puffer has never had a direct contract with any of the Subsidiary Companies (the only supplying the independent contractors) with the exception of some small gangs and sub-contractors of the McArthur Construction Co.

COMMUNICATION

(While our columns are open to our readers, the Editor does not necessarily endorse their views on subjects under discussion.)

To the Editor of the Western Globe:

Dear Sir,—I was deeply grieved on reading this week's issue of your paper, to notice that W. F. Puffer, M.P.P., who doubtless rightfully condemns C. W. Rutledge, late provincial manager of the Iowa Mutual Life Insurance Co., stooped to the meanness of bringing that gentleman's wife into the question. I do not think a gentleman would stoop to such low methods. Mr. Puffer would have been perfectly within his rights to say anything he liked about Mr. Rutledge, but surely Mrs. Rutledge should have been left out of the controversy. Although I, myself, am not of German descent, my wife is, and she is very dear to me; her mother also is dear to me. They are both good, honest women, despite the imputation Mr. Puffer gives that to have a German mother is a thing to deplore. All of us who have relatives of German descent resent very much Mr. Puffer's insinuation.

Thanking you for printing this letter, and assuring you that I and my wife are both loyal to Great Britain,

Yours truly,

A FARMER
With a German Wife.

THEY'RE RIGHT OUT AFTER OUR CHEVROLET AUTO.

At last the fair sex are represented in the Great Circulation Campaign of the Globe, two having been nominated during the past week, viz: Miss Dorothy Parker, of Lacombe, and Mrs. Lenore Dahl, of Wittenburg.

And there'll be others yet, as the competition is but getting rightly started now, but the sooner all get started the better. Those already in the field are making each hour count, and that's a big factor in a contest of this nature—steadiness. It will be proven when the contest is over that the winner was always busy soliciting his or her friends for their subscriptions to the best weekly paper published in the Province of Alberta.

And won't it be worth his or her while to be the winner of an up-to-the-minute car—a $750 Chevrolet "Four-Ninety"—the best at the price manufactured in Canada. There'll be no arm-aches, as it's a self-starter and has all the modern improvements—what more could one wish for in this automobile age?

Then the non-winners have not been forgotten—they will receive a commission of ten per cent. of all monies sent in; that'll be worth working for too. Don't let the other contestant have it all his- or her own way, but keep a-plugging.

The first week of the contest has closed with Kenneth Matheson, of Brooksley, in the lead, followed closely by Ronald McCully, of Lacombe. The real work starts this week. Up to date the farmers have been busy in the fields, and were not in a humor to be canvassed—but now that the Spring work is finished they can be approached with confidence.

Candidates starting this week have just as good a chance to win the car as those who started a week ago. With only seven weeks to run now is the time to get very BUSY.

Don't that car look good to you? How can you pick up at the rate of OVER A HUNDRED DOLLARS A WEEK easier? Don't let the grass grow under your feet, but "cover the ground" thoroughly.

NEW U-BOAT SECRETS WORTH THIRTY-FIVE GERMAN LIVES

Paris, April 17.—"It was like a Christmas pantomime," said the Englishman, "to see the lid of the conning tower on the submarine pop open and all the Germans spurt out. Like ginger beer, they were."

The Englishman told the story to a few people at a certain embassy the other day. He had just returned from a tour of duty on one of the vessels that fish for submarines. He was a bit cheery and talkative, this Englishman. The solid land felt so pleasant beneath his unaccustomed heels that he expanded. For weeks he had been cooped up on a little rolling, dirty vessel that smelled viciously of fish. His morning constitutional has been four paces and a hitch long. The slat and rattle of the jerking rigging had never been out of his ears. At any moment of those weeks a mine might have sunk his little trawler, or a German submarine exploded against her rusty ribs.

"We'll know every secret of their new submarines in another fortnight," he boasted. "If they have any secrets—"

His smeared little trawler had a running mate in her guard of the Channel. The other vessel was more greasy and disreputable in appearance than the trawler. Pilots of passenger steamers involuntarily took the upwind side of the pair, if the choice offered, and crews of other small and dirty boats who were not in the secret of their task were unpleasant in their comments. The pair dragged themselves wearily over the heaving green seas of the Channel. They talked with each other by hanging out wash on the fore-castle or rigging, patched sails, or by the use of more ingenious devices. They were on the lookout for the new German submarines—the big new boats which can travel 5,000 miles without revictualing. Grant a supply station in a cove hidden on Long Island and they could reach the port of New York.

One morning the pair slopped lazily down the Channel, a net stretched between them, as though they were the innocent but nasty fishers they seemed to be. Except that the net was of steel chain, and the fish they sought carried torpedoes in its head. There came a heave at the net, and before the submarine could back out it, had been caught in the meshes. "This net has its own secret. It is not advisable to suggest what it may be."

"We hauled in," said the Englishman.

The operation seems to have been quite simple. Windlasses were set going and the undersea boat was brought to the surface of the water. The allies have been particularly anxious to catch a specimen of this particular sort of fish alive, so to speak. It is presumed to have many new devices—one which enables it to lie on the floor of a shallow channel, for example, and send its men out through a door to lay mines, and a new mirror to take the place of the old periscope— which the allies wish to examine closely. It was not hard to bring it to the surface, it seems. A submarine travelling under water is just a trifle less buoyant than the water it displaces.

"The conning tower came up," said the Englishman, "and then—woosh!"

Its lid flew open like the top of a trick box. Germans began to boil out of it. They fairly crawled over each other's backs. As fast as they got to the sunlight they threw themselves into the water. Then they swam to the fisher boat, and asked to be taken in. The submarine itself began to sink. The last man out had opened the sea-cocks and the boat was filling with water. As it filled its weight became too great for the light net which held it. It broke through the meshes and sank to the bottom.

At the bow and stern of each of the new submarines a bomb is placed, said the Englishman. Wires run from these bombs to the conning tower, and it is the duty of the commandant to explode these bombs and sink the boat rather than permit it to fall into the hands of the enemy. The thirty-five men of the crew would inevitably die, with the boat in that case, but this is to be preferred to the discovery of the new secrets. One may characterize this readiness to die rather than permit the enemy to make a point either as heroism or savagery. It depends upon one's point of view.

"I regret greatly," said the commandant of the submarine, "that something had gone wrong with the wires. I tried them, but the bombs would not explode."

As a last resort he had opened the sea-cocks, and not until the water was plain about the knees of the men inside had he permitted them to open the lid of the steel coffin and escape from the drowning death they faced.

He laughed in the faces of his English captors as he told the story. He thought the secret of the submarine was safe. He told them it was sunk 100 fathoms deep, and that it could never be raised.

"But the water was only ten fathoms deep," said the Englishman.

"We'll have it up inside of a fortnight. Then we'll see what are the tricks that Hans has up his sleeve."

A score of tales have been told of the wonders of the new submarine. It is at least certain it will not be a mystery much longer.

TIDE DEFINITELY TURNED AGAINST HUNS

London, May 17.—The Daily Chronicle correspondent in Paris sends the following dispatch:

"Although the German commanders dare not confess failure in their Verdun enterprise by closing it down and cutting off the losses, the stress of public interest here, now altogether relieved of anxiety is passing to other fields where events of different character are preparing."

"Now that 308,000 of the best German soldiers have been lost on the hillsides of the Meuse, a very grave and daily aggravated situation faces the kaiser and his grand staff. The tide has definitely turned. From west and east their long-evaded destiny is closing in upon them."

"At no moment in the battle of Verdun have they dared to bring thither any unit from before the British front. Other parts of the German front have been stripped of all the superfluous strength, and the force in Russia is similarly crippled to feed this adventure. Since last September at least 21 divisions have been transferred from the east to the west front, 15 of these coming from Russia direct, and five or six others by way of Serbia or other indirect way."

"There is thus left in Russia a mere curtain of German troops, while Bulgaria and Turkey are being gradually left to shift for themselves."

"If the Germans contemplate a great offensive by land and sea against Riga and the Dvina," said General Cherille today, "they will have to reinforce their 48 divisions; of infantry. These, spread along a front of 330 miles, give less than one man per yard. It is little enough for defense. For an attack 10 men per yard are needed on the line chosen."

"Where are such reinforcements to come from. It is very doubtful whether the depots in Germany contain the necessary numbers and the quality of German infantry has certainly much deteriorated. Nor would the wreckage of the battle of Verdun provide a striking force, even if the crown prince could now disengage himself in that region."

"There is every reason to hope that with the close of the battle of Verdun there is opening a new and final stage of the war, in which its authors will be brought to reason, if not be imminent threat, then by the actual hand of famine and military disaster."

AUSTRIAN ORDER DEMANDS DEATH OF ALL ITALIANS

Paris, May 18.—The Havas Agency Rome correspondent sends a semi-official communication issued at Rome which protests against the treatment of Italian prisoners. The communication gives the text of an order by General Borovich, commander of the Austrian forces on the Isonzo front, which was found in a captured Austrian office. The order says: "Troops on the southwest front should make as few prisoners as possible. No one should shake hands with Italian officers."

ARMENIANS DIE BY HUNDREDS

New York, May 16.—Suffering among Armenians in Turkey, Persia, and Syria is still intense, and they are dying by hundreds for want of food, and are in urgent need of aid, says a cablegram from Constantinople, made public today by the American committee for Armenian and Syrian relief.

The request for aid, sent by representatives of the committee in Turkey through the department of state, says a minimum of $52,000 a month is needed for relief in Turkey alone.

Conditions in many quarters, says the message, are so distressing that the Armenians are forced to eat grass; and yet, despite these conditions, they continue in their Christian faith, although a change to Mohammedanism would quickly relieve their plight. The number of non-combatants effected is one million.

In Aleppo, says the message, 1,350 orphans are destitute. In Marash 10,000 Armenians are threatened with deportation, and the government has refused to allow the Christians to transact business of any kind to support themselves. In Tarsus, where it is estimated 92,000 exiles have passed through, typhoid is prevalent. In Sivas there are 25,000 destitute children from the coast towns. All of these towns besides many others, it is said, are in great and urgent need.

From Stanley Puffer

The following interesting letter was received by Mrs. W. F. Puffer from her son, Stanley, on Sunday:

France, May 4th, 1916. Dear Mother,—No doubt before this reaches you you will know that a bullet found a billet in my right shoulder, and is still with me yet. The Sister is just after calling me down for using my right hand in writing this. I am in No. 1 Canadian General Hospital B.E.F., France, at present, and have no idea how long I will be here. Major Ings, a doctor, is manager of my ward. I suppose they will be turning the X-Ray on my shoulder before long to locate my souvenir.

Lieut. D. J. Campbell said he would write to dad yesterday and give all particulars. I don't think a little rest will do me any harm after having been going at a pretty steady pace over here for almost eight months. It certainly feels pretty good to get between sheets again and to hear and see white women again.

I should not be laid up for many weeks as no bones are broken, at least I don't think so. Did you know that I had been in the fighting at St. Eloi. It was there that I received my wound.

I am coming up in the world, as I came down here on the same train that was used in conveying King George the time he tumbled off his horse over here. I am what is called a walking case, and, of course we were crowded on the train and had a very tiresome trip. It was a 9-hour journey.

Sorry this is not more lengthy, but my hand has not got the strength.

Have had a fair rest, and am "feeling jake." STANLEY.
